

September 2011

This school year we are focusing on going deeper with students. One of the ways that we are doing this is by encouraging students to become missionaries to the peers they are around the most. This may range from marching band students to cross country team members to a group that is marginalized at school. Two student missionaries are paired up with an adult mentor to help hold them accountable through prayer and communication. The students plan what they want to do with their peer group, such as a bible study, an outreach, or a prayer time.

One group that has begun at Washington High School is a missionary team to the football team. In one week the team had the football team over for pizza and shared why they love Christ and asked others to share if and how they knew Jesus. They also had Brian Hansen, a former NFL player, speak to the football team after practice about his testimony. At the gathering for pizza, the team captain announced that he would be gathering at Celebrate before Saturday's game and invited anyone else who would like to join him. The captain was not even one who planned these outreach events. God wants to capture the hearts of these WHS football players!

Please pray for missionary teams that are starting up all across the schools. Pray for God to stir more hearts in students and adult mentors.

“And He called the twelve to Himself, and began to send them out two by two,” Mark 6:7b.
